		MONDAY NOW 9-0 W

MONDAY, Nov. 2-P. M. There was no very marked feature at the Board this morning, with a fair business and irregular prices. The tendency was downward, with a rather firmer Seeling at the close. Reading fell off to 28 but recovered to 29; Erie closed at 124, a decline of ? P cent; Toledo was steady at Saturday's price; New-York Central shows a decline of | F cent; Chicago and Rock Island, 1 & cent. The bears are still rather disposed to put out short contracts but not on long time. Most of the business is done on three and ten days' options. There is an upward movement in Eric Bonds, as it gradually appears probable that the road will struggle out of its difficulties. The loan of 1871 sold up to 30, of 1862 at 29, and 1883 at 60, an adwance of 2 & cent. In other bonds the movement was limited. State Stocks are active and sold to the extent of $75,000 at about previous prices. New ong York 6s sold at 103, which is better.

The foreign Exchange market is firm, but not very supply of outside bills is moderate. The active. The range of the market is 104 to 108-the latter for very leading signatures and for marginal bills. The busi

Heading signatures and for marginal bills. The business has been done at 107 @1074 for bankers' and 104 @105 for bills lading. France are 5.45 @5.25, and quiet. We can find no foundation for the rumor that the Persia brought out a million of dol. Liverpool and Manchester Banks were received, but have not yet been put upon the market to any extont.

Freights close less buoyantly. To Liverpool—3,300 bbls. Flour at 2s. 64; 50 this bulk and 8d. in bage: 75 tes. Beef at 5s.; 100 tes. and 150 bbls. The weekly averages of the Bank stalement are received in the street as quite favorable. The increase in the specie average is large, and the actual amount in vault is probably to day fourteen millions. Every Bank in the list shows more or less increase in gold. The Commerce has $1,475,000 and the Merchants' $1,202,000. The aggregate amount held by the Banks is row larger than at any time since Sept. 19, and is $8,600,000 larger than on the evening of the day before the suspension. But a small portion of this a senualation has come from purchasee of coin, it has flowed into the Banks naturally from the interior and from dealers. The nnexpectedly low premium which has suled in the street for coin has materially assisted this strengthening of the Bank vaults. In addition to the fourteen millions of gold held by the banks, they have four millions and a half of State currency, which, under the present sys-tem at the Clearing House, is equivalent to specie. Thus the banks hold eighteen and a half millions and Clearing House funds, with a line of loans of ninety-five millions, and of deposits of fifty one millions, against eleven millions of Clearing House funds, one hundred and three millions of loans, and sixty-one millions of deposits at this time last year. The line of loans shows a small decrease, less than $300,000, which is less than was anticipated. The Metropolitan shows an increase of $200 000, but the banks generally have been unable to do more than renew for their dealers. The deposits, which had been quietly withdrawn under the apprehensions of dealers, continue to flow back into the Barks, and the increase for the week is nearly four millions. The increase from the lowest point of the undrawn line has been about nine millions. The circulation continues to be displaced by State currency, and shows a further contraction. The comparison with last week is as follows:

| Deposite | Deposite

The undrawn deposits show about the same increase as the apparent line, being $51,853,000 against $47,874,000, showing an increase of $3,979,000. The great increase in deposits has been in the Metropolitan, American Exchange and Bank of Commerce.

Simeon Draper's regular semi-weekly sale of Bonds and Stocks will take place to-morrow, Tuesday, at 12] o'clock, at the Merchants' Exchange. Albert H. Nicolay will hold a special auction sale of Stocks and Bonds to-morrow, Tuesday, at 121 o'clock, at the Merchants' Exchange.

The sale of A. H. Muller, on Wedensday, will include $50,000 of Ohio State sixes of 1886.

The following sales of Stocks and Bonds were made kers this afternoon, in reference to the finances of the Erie Road, was favorably received. The meeting was a very large one, and, after the address, resolutions, intreduced by Col. Stebbins, were passed. The matter of Mr. Moran's address was much the same as we have several times before reported at the various meetings which have taken place; consequently it is unnecessary to recapitulate his statements. A good disposition toward the road was exhibited, and a desire manifested to extend aid, as far as possible, to extricate it from its difficulties.

Attention is asked to an advertisement in another column, addressed to the creditors of Bowen, Mc-Namee & Co.

Annexed is a statement of the deposits and coinage of the Mint of the United States at Philadelphia dur-

The coupons of cities, railroads, & 2., which fell due to-day were met as promptly, probably, as could be expected under the circumstances of the times. The new defaults we hear of are on the bonds of the City of Milwaukee, issued to the Milwankee and Horicon and Milwaukee and Mississippi Railroads, and the first mortgage bonds of the Milwaukee and La Crosse ard Milwaukee and Horicon Road. The Erie Road commenced paying the coupons on their first mortgage bonds, but ran out of funds and put some holders off until to-morrow. The holders of coupons on the first mortgage Southern Michigan Railroad bonds were referred for their money to the office at Toledo. It is thought the Milwaukee and La Crosse and Milwaukee and Horicon coupons will be paid within thirty or sixty days. Some other defaults took place, but they were not new cases.

The notes of the Woodstock (Vt) Bank are thrown out at the Metropolitan Bank this morning. The notes of the Morris County (N. J.) Bank are no longer redeemed by Carpenter & Vermilyea.

The inquiry for bullion is quite limited to-day, and the rates are 12? P cent premium. Some of the brekers do not buy at any premium. Gold is now moving erratically. We hear of nothing engaged for the Boston steamer of Wednesday; but the Persia will probably take back a large portion of the gold which arrived by her, while the Vanderbilt and the Cunard boat will in the meantime bring to us a large amount. The Vanderbilt, we hear, has as much on board as could be insured. The Quaker City, which arrived from Havana to-day, brought $173,000; and the Granada, which sailed for New-Orleans, took out $450,000. A considerable portion of this gold goes out for the purchase of sterling bills, which were selling at 10 P cent discount to par.

The Quaker City reports the Star of the West as having on board $1,600,000 for New-York and $500,000 for England, but this is evidently an exaggeration, as the Golden Age is reported to have had only $1,560,000 to Panama, and gold intended for England does not come to New-York, but is forwarded from Aspinwall by the British West India steamers.

The interest on the bonds of the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Reilroad Company will be paid at the American Exchange Bank.

Another meeting of the stockholders of the Erie Railroad Company will be held at the Mercantile Library on Wednesday evening, Nov. 4, at 7 o'clock. The transactions of the Clearing-House were $12,398,768, which shows an increased business.

The latest New-Orleans dates are of October 31. The Cotton market was irregular, with sales for the week of 15,000 bales at 91 a 10c. for middlings. The receipts for the week were 27,000 bales. Freights to Liverpool id., and sterling bills 90. The Money man ket shows scarcely a symptom of relief, and the banks steadily refuse to expand their loans. The result is that many extensions of paper are daily taking place, and but for this accommodation a pretty heavy list of failures would be announced. The movement of Cotton is very restricted. The planters of the South very generally decline to sell their cotton at present rates, preferring to keep it on their plantations for higher prices, and let their debts to New-Orleans factors and elsewhere take care of themselves. This course will react very unfavorably on houses in New-York connected with the Southern trade, and place them in the same embarragged condition as the failure of the West to meet its obligations here has placed the houses connected with that trade.

Mr. Enoch Train, of the well known Boston shipping house of Enoch Train & Co., is about to estab lish himself in this city and put on a line of packets between New-York and Liverpool.

In the United States Circuit Court of Indiana, last week Judge McLean delivered a decision upon a motien to appoint a receiver for the New-Albany and Salem Railroad, at which The Louisville Journal furnishes the following notice:

The Judge decided: First, that a receiver need not The Judge decided: First, that a receiver need not be appointed simply because there was a default in the payment of interest upon the bonds of the Company. The law abhors a forfeiture, and would never enforce one. Secondly, the fact that the Company had paid all the net earnings (saving the usual surplus) to liquidate its floating debt, did not justify the Court in holding that this was a misapplication of the earnings, for, if that debt was contracted to finish the read or to relay the track, then it was beneficial to the beachedders and all concerned. Thirdly, that the read or to relay the track, then it was beneficial to the bondholders and all concerned. Thirdly, that the Court would not take the road out of the hands of the present managers, for it was apparent that they had managed the road with fidelity and integrity. The Court then made an order, directing that in fature the net earnings of the road should be applied in equal proportions to the payment of the floating debt and the interest upon bonds.

Charles A. Purdy, esq , of White Plains, was called to the Crair, and Mr. John R. Haywood appointed Secretary of the meeting.

Mr. Purdy, on taking the Chair, stated the objects of the meeting, and then introduced to the assemblage F. W. Edmunds, eeq., who, he said, had, at the request of gentlemen connected with the bank, prepared a statement of its condition to lay before them.

Mr. Edmunds said: I ought in the first place to state, for the benefit of this meeting, that I am in nowise connected or interested in the affairs of the Bank; I am neither a stockholder nor a depositor. The way I came to enter the business of investigating its affairs at all, was simply thus: After the suspension of the bank, I was called upon at my residence by one of the Directors, who, knowing that I had long been conbank, I was called upon at my residence by one of the Directors, who, knowing that I had long been connected with the city banks, including the period of bark suspension of 1837, requested me to tell him how we proceeded in 1837 to resuscitate them, and what measures I would recommend to be pursued, in the case of the Bowery Bank—whether it could be resuscitated or not—if it could be resuscitated, what steps should be taken to effect that object. I told him that I could not tell him unless I should examine the books of the bank; if he had a mind to let me examine the books, I would then state whether, in my opinion, the bank was, in a condition to be resuscitated. Subsequently the same party called upon me again, and requested me to go forward and make the examination which I proceeded to do, but not so thoroughly as I should have done had I supposed that I should be called upon to make a public statement. The object of that examination was to ascertain whether the assets of the bank were sufficient to warrant the idea of starting business again. I made a report that they had not sufficient, and that they had not better attempt to go on. There is no doubt of one thing, viz: that the institution itself has a most excellent business; that after standing the run with other banks for some time, it still has on hand over half a million dollars; it would be a pity, therefore, to let the bank go out of existence; but whether you will go on with it, you must know how its affairs stand, and in order to avoid beforging you with figures, I will endeavor to make myself understood as succinctly as possible. Firstly, then, what are the liabilities of the bank? Next, what has the bank go to pay those liabilities with? And, lastly, what is the value of the assets? These questions may be briefly answered by the following statement of the affairs of the bank, as prepared Oct. 33, 1857:

1. Loans and discounts. $20,000

2. Stocks of the State of New York. 1922 600

The paper protested prior to the lst inst is not worth, I presume, in all over $25,000. That which has fallen under protest since the Bank has been enjoined is better.

Among the special loans are notes (chiefly of Directors) amounting to about $27,000, recured by a pledge of its own stock, $55,000 on Second-avenue Railroad stock taken at par, and $14,000 purporting to be secured by sundry deeds on property out of the city. These loans are principally to Directors, and how far they are responsible, apart from the security. I have no means of judging. The sum of $17,500 has been received on account of the suspended debt, but not yet credited to this account. With these explanations, loans and discounts will stand as follows:

Mr. Purdy, Chairman, then rose and remarked that the stockholders and depositors had heard a plain statement of the affairs of the bank, and it was for the meeting to say what could and should be done under the circumstances set forth. According to his view of the matter, there were but three things to be done by the stockholders; the first of which was to assess themselves—cr, in other words, to re-subscribe a sufficient amount, payable in a few days, to enable the bank to resume operations: next, to have a Receiver appointed, to collect all that could be collected, cient amount, payable in a few days, to enable the back to resume operations; next to have a Receiver appointed to collect all that could be collected, pay off the depositors, and then let the stockholders assume the assets and liabilities, then appoint a new set of directors; or, lastly, go into liquidation—and certainly there never was a more unfavorable time for pursuing the latter course.

An amendment was offered that the Committee consist of three stockholders and two depositors, and that they report within ten days at an adjourned meeting, and that the Committee also be requested to present some proposition as to the best course to be pursued by the stockholders and depositors to save the money invested by them in the institution. The resolution was adopted, and Mesers, F. R. Lee, Dr. Wm. Hibbard, James C. Willett, John R. Haywood and Daniel Quimby were appointed such Committee, with power to engage the services of a competent person to aid them in their investigation.

A motion was then made in favor of authorizing the Committee to secure the services of Mr. Edmands. That gentleman, however, declined being so engaged, but volunteered his assistance, should the Committee desire it, which asnouncement was received with applause, and, on motion, a vote of thanks was then tendered to Mr. Edmunds for his very acceptable

"The suspension of the banking house of Messrs. We are happy, however, to state that this misfortune, which, according to the best information we can obtain, will be only temporary, does not affect in the slightest degree the bank of James Robb, an institution managed entirely apart from the banking business of the house, and that its means and resourcer, as may indeed be seen from the returns, are more than ample to meet all and every demand. While much sympathy is deservedly expressed for Mr. Robb, the community here have the most implicit confidence in the management of the bank."

So far as we are advised, and we believe we have informed ourselves fully, the dishonor of no draft of any company working mines in this country, has been caused by want of responsibility of companies. In fact at no time in the history of our mining operations has the prospects been so good, and the monthly products so great, as they were when the agents were advised of the fact that their drafts were not honored. And the fact that the miners at work on the several locations, and for companies who refused to draw farther drafts or pay for labor until better times, are going on with their work as usual, and feel confident that the product of their mines will be far beyond working expenses, is sufficient guarantee that it is monetary and commercial embarrassments at the East and that only, has led to the existing state of things here. New Youx, Monday, Nov. 2, 1857.

Our last sevices were dated 27th uit. The improvement then shown has continued to make sensible progress, and as soon as the effect of our bank suspensions in Barope shall have been realized here, business will no doubt again resume its regular course. Our last advices from Liverpool are to the 17th ultimo, per Persia. Failures have become much less numerous, and confidence is slowly reviving in every branch of business, with the exception of the dry goods trade, which still causes onessiness for the heavy payments of November. Shoney is getting easier to obtain on good security, and gold is worth only a trifle more than paper, sod everything indicates that by the end of January we she'l have a great abundance of money, and an unprecedented accumulation of specie in our banks. Not withstanding this, in the existing condition of car country banks, it is not likely that specie payments can be resumed before next Spring.

European Exchange has further advanced, and a good portion of the gold we are how receiving from Europe must shortly be sent back. The Persia brought out about $1,20,000 in gold, and from Havans we have also received $359,000.
